

South West Catholic Partnership Development Officer

The Leadership and Governance strategy, Formatio, is one of the major projects that the Catholic Education Service has been commissioned to undertake by the Catholic Bishops' Conference of England and Wales. This role is an opportunity to build on the strong foundations of the national programme and what is already being delivered in the four regional hubs and to develop this further alongside the directors in each diocese to enhance formation and embrace the national strategy.

The Catholic Education Service is therefore looking to appoint a Development Officer (0.4 FTE) to work with diocesan directors, the Catholic university and Catholic teaching schools in the region. This person will act as a catalyst to help form and sustain leaders of Catholic education. This work will also involve collaboration across the four regions and with the Catholic Education Service. The post is open to individuals either as an employment opportunity or as part of a secondment.

Vision Statement for the Partnership

“Working collaboratively across Wales and the South West, we will provide an excellent education, by building school leadership capacity that gives young people the opportunity to explore and consider the world through the lens of Catholicism to fulfil their potential and to encourage them to use their talents in service of others.”

The South West Catholic Partnership includes the Archdiocese of Birmingham and Cardiff, and the Dioceses of Clifton, Menevia, Plymouth and Portsmouth along with the Catholic teaching schools and Newman University, Birmingham.

The South West Catholic Partnership will work to fulfil the mission of Formatio to form, nourish and sustain leaders of Catholic education and forge a stronger working relationship between Catholic dioceses in the spirit of the common good.
